

THE CREATION OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLIC

NOVEMBER 12–18, CAPTIVA, FL

The origins of the American Revolution explain both its ideals and those of our own day. This institute will examine the origins of the Revolution, with the assistance of some of the leading experts on colonial and Revolutionary America.

The Ancien Regime: Sovereignty and Federalism	J.C.D. Clark	University of Kansas, History
---	--------------	-------------------------------

Locke and Montesquieu	Thomas L. Pangle	University of Texas, Gov't.
-----------------------	------------------	-----------------------------

The Experience of Self-Government	Jack P. Greene	Johns Hopkins, History
-----------------------------------	----------------	------------------------

The Forgotten Founders and the Role of Religion	Michael Novak	American Enterprise Institute
---	---------------	-------------------------------

Blackstone and Liberty	James R. Stoner	Louisiana State University, Political Science
------------------------	-----------------	---

Republican Virtue: Plutarch	John Alvis	University of Dallas, English
-----------------------------	------------	-------------------------------

A Summing Up	Gordon S. Wood	Brown, History
--------------	----------------	----------------

Jonathan Clark is the leading historian of the long eighteenth century in England, and the author of English Society 1688-1832 and The Language of Liberty. Tom Pangle is the author of The Spirit of Modern Republicanism and Political Philosophy and the God of Abraham. Jack Greene is the author of Pursuits of Happiness and Michael Novak is the author of On Two Wings and The Spirit of Democratic Capitalism. Jim Stoner is the author of Common Law and Liberal Theory. John Alvis is the editor of Shakespeare as a Political Thinker. Gordon Wood is the leading historian of the Revolutionary period and his The Radicalism of the American Revolution won a Pulitzer Prize.

MICHAEL NOVAK

GORDON WOOD